

Baroness Stuart's term as Royal Mint Advisory Committee (RMAC) Chair extended for five months

23.4.2026 - | Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs

Baroness Stuart of Edgbaston was reappointed as Chair of the Royal Mint Advisory Committee (RMAC) for a term of five months.

Baroness Stuart's term began on 1 March 2026 and will end in July 2026.

Baroness Stuart was first appointed as RMAC Chair on 1 March 2021 for a term of five years.

Further information

- Members of the Royal Mint Advisory Committee are appointed by His Majesty the King on the recommendation of the Prime Minister and the Economic Secretary to the Treasury.
- These appointments are regulated by the Commissioner for Public Appointments, who provides independent assurance that appointments are made in accordance with the Government's Principles of Public Appointments and Governance Code.
- Positions on the Royal Mint Advisory Committee are unpaid.
- Baroness Stuart joined the House of Lords in 2020 as a non-party affiliated peer. She was appointed as the First Civil Service Commissioner in March 2022 and is also currently the Chair of the Wilton Park Board and Advisory Council.
- Baroness Stuart has confirmed she has not engaged in any political activity in the last five years.

<https://www.gov.uk/government/news/baroness-stuarts-term-as-royal-mint-advisory-committee-rmac-chair-extended-for-five-months>