Amundi today announces the listing of AMUNDI EURO STOXX UCITS ETF DIST[1] on Euronext Paris, an ETF developed for the National Mutual Insurance Federation of Agricultural Cooperatives (Zenkyoren). Launched on 27 August 2026, the ETF is designed to track the performance of the EURO STOXX Net Return Index EUR.

The solution was designed to support Zenkyoren's search for broad and efficient diversification across eurozone equities, providing access to a wide range of listed companies in the region through a single, cost-efficient vehicle.

Key features of the ETF and the underlying index

The Amundi EURO STOXX UCITS ETF DIST seeks to replicate the performance of the EURO STOXX Net Return Index EUR[2], offering exposure to a broad universe of large, mid and small-cap companies listed in the eurozone.

The EURO STOXX Net Return Index EUR includes securities from Austria, Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Portugal and Spain.

Constituents are selected according to criteria including free-float-adjusted market capitalisation, liquidity and investability. The index is reviewed quarterly.
