S&P Maintains ‘A’ Rating and Stable Outlook for SIX

7.9.2026 - Julian Chan | SIX Group AG

S&P Global Ratings maintains its ‘A’ credit rating and stable outlook for SIX Group AG. The rating primarily reflects the strong market position of SIX and its vertically integrated business model that offers earnings diversification, stability, and strong deleveraging capabilities.

S&P Global Ratings maintained its ‘A/A-1’ long- and short-term issuer credit ratings on SIX Group AG and its ‘A+/A-1’ ratings on the operating subsidiaries SIX SIS AG and SIX x-clear AG. The stable outlooks for all rated entities reflect the expectation that SIX will continue to deliver revenue growth and EBITDA margin expansion while maintaining sustainable financial leverage. S&P Global Ratings further highlighted the strong performance of SIX in the first half of 2026 and recognized the progress made under its Scale Up 2027 transformation program.

Markus Habbel, CFO SIX: “S&P Global Ratings’ assessment confirms the strong progress we are making in executing our Group strategy and strengthening our financial profile. Our performance in the first half of 2026 reflects continued growth across our businesses, the successful integration of Aquis Exchange, and disciplined cost management. This financial strength enables us to invest in our core businesses, pursue growth opportunities, and continue to deliver innovative, high-quality solutions for our clients.”
