

IPO customer service standards

15.4.2026 - | Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs

The IPO customer service standards tell you the level of service you can expect and how we are performing against these targets.

We have reviewed our service standards for 2025-26 to ensure that they continue to meet customer needs.

We are currently meeting, or exceeding, most of our customer service standards. However, unprecedented demand and the transition to our new service platform continue to impact timescales in some areas. We are working hard to address any delays by recruiting and training additional staff as well as improving the efficiency of our processes and services.

More detail about our activities can be found in our Corporate Priorities.

Whilst additional casework resulting from the UK's departure from the EU has largely been concluded, demand for Tribunal services in 2025 was over 10% higher than in the preceding two years. As a result, the Tribunal continues to manage a significant backlog of trade mark and registered design cases, with pendency times still failing to meet the Inter Partes Hearing Decisions service standard described above. We acknowledge the resulting delays and thank users for their patience. We are working hard to eliminate the backlog and return to performance inside the service standard. Further information on current pendency times can be found under the heading 'Timeframes, volumes, and appeals on the Objecting to other peoples trade marks and the legal costs.
